

TSSA Elevating Devices Checklist

| *, Elevating Devices that do not fall under the Regulations | Yes | No |
|--|-----|----|
| Private dwelling houses used exclusively by the occupants and their guests unless the owner requests in writing that they apply to them. | | |
| Appliances that feed materials into or positions materials at a machine tool, printing press, furnace or processing equipment. | | |
| Freight ramps having a means of adjusting the slope of the ramp. | | |
| Freight platforms on which persons are prohibited from riding that have a rise of two metres or less, or unless the owner requests in writing that they apply to them. | | |
| Lifting devices that are, at each entrance mechanically loaded or unloaded by a conveyor or other fixed mechanism, so fenced in or guarded as to prevent persons from accidentally entering the hoistway, in a location inaccessible to the general public, and controlled by designated trained personnel only. | | |
| Powered platforms that are designed to provide access to the exterior or interior of a building or structure and that consist of a suspended working platform, a roof car, or other suspension means and track or guidance systems. | | |
| Dumbwaiters, having a car-floor area of less than 0.2 square metres, maximum capacity less than 10 kilograms and the sill of every hoistway opening 0.8 metres or more above floor level, or unless the owner requests that they apply to them. | | |
| Cranes and hoists for lifting and lowering goods or materials that are provided with unguided hooks or slings to which the goods are attached. | | |
| Elevating devices for persons with physical disabilities, that have a rise of 600 mm or less and that are not accessible to the general public. | | |
| Freight platform lift-Type B that has a rise of two metres or less and that operates between a loading dock and the bed of a vehicle used to transport goods. | | |

*Not all exemptions were listed in this checklist, only those elevating devices that are commonly used in the Funeral and Crematory Services. The full listing is provided in section 2 (3) of the Ontario Regulations 209/01.

The list is not all inclusive and may require further interpretation from an inspector from this authority, if your device meets one of the exemptions.

Private Dwelling Questionnaire